Conditions for Participation in the Australian Antarctic Program

I have read and understand the conditions described in and referenced by the Australian Antarctic Program Expeditioner Handbook and I accept participation in the forthcoming expedition of the Australian Antarctic Program under those conditions.

I acknowledge that my participation in the Australian Antarctic Program is conditional on my continued compliance with the provisions of the Antarctic Service Code of Personal Behaviour, 1st edition, October 2002 (the Code), and I have read and understand the provisions detailed in that document.

I further acknowledge that my participation in the Australian Antarctic Program may also be withdrawn, for reasons other than a breach of the Code, whereby:

- I have been unable to adapt to the work or social conditions;
- I have failed to meet expectations during training and preparation for participation in the Australian Antarctic Program;
- I am no longer operationally required;
- My continued participation in the Australian Antarctic Program would increase the risk of an unproductive environment in the workplace or negatively affect the interaction between members of the expedition; or
- Medical and/or adaptability conditions become apparent or develop after commencement with the Australian Antarctic Program.
