

WHAT'S YOUR THEORY?

The early stage of most investigations always seems to raise more questions than answers! The mystery of the disappearing krill could take years to solve!

When searching for answers, Antarctic scientists, like the best detectives, ask lots of questions.

So who IS eating who? Does anyone really have an alibi? Do Feathered Fiends and Some Things Fishy enjoy the same snacks? Is anyone getting too fat? Does anyone NOT have krill on their menu? Are all the Slippery Characters carnivores? Is there a link between the Low Life and the Flying Squad? What if whalers had killed the last of the Mister Bigs? How big would the hole in the food web be? Who would care?

Could it be that humans are members of a new rival gang? And anyway what was that noise the Patagonian toothfish heard?

WHO'S EATING WHO?

Research and writing by Tracey Diggins (Imagine Education)

Design and finished art by Pauline deVos (Interpretive Graphics)

Cover design by Belinda Pingala Walsh. Additional photo manipulation by Wayne Papps.

Project managed by Liz Haywood, Jenny Whittaker and Peter Boyer. Photography by

Wayne Papps, Christo Baars, Grant Dixon, Glenn Jacobson, Eric Woehler, Graham

Robertson, Nick Gales, David Neilson, Lyn Irvine, David Parer, Steve Nicol,

Gerry Nash, Louise Conboy, Grant Else, Tracey Diggins, Harvey Marchant,

Dick Williams, R.J. Tomkins, P.Thomas, Vin Morgan, Knowles Kerry, Roger

Kirkwood, Didier Monselesan, Rowan Butler, D. Ingarfield, James Shevlin, Clive

McMahon, K.Sheridan, T. Carter. Copyright Australian Antarctic Division 2001.

www.classroom.antarctica.gov.au

Australian Government

Department of the Environment and Water Resources

Australian Antarctic Division

Macquarie Island

... an Antarctic and Southern Ocean MYSTERY!